

The Griffin, Trevalyn - 17th October 2018

Chris L is back on his bike after a few weeks off and has this to say about last week's ride.

Nine of us assembled at the bus stop whilst Brian L instructed us on some adjustments to his route - just carry on down Woodbank to join the Greenway and cross Hawarden Bridge. Two more joined the group here before going up Shotton Lane with a brief regroup at the top, carrying on in an upward direction to Northop Hall.

I realised my front wheel wasn't running as smoothly as expected! You tend not to notice on a steep incline when all your weight is on the back - the dreaded puncture - well I suppose it was my turn!

Richard started taking photos whilst Chris looked on giving advice where appropriate;

Brian realised it may take a few minutes so suggested a banana stop too (Liz missed this instruction and her banana accompanied her for the rest of the day!). I found the dreaded thorn, (we had just passed some hedge-cutting) and also found someone with tweezers. Unfortunately, as Tony pumped up the tyre he noticed nothing was happening - the valve had broken! I started again with a second tube (I only carry two!).

At this point Brian decided to press on to pick up two more cyclists at the Green while Tony, Richard and I would see them later (we had the route). The second tube went on easier and Richard managed to get the tyre back on again - Tony had a track pump so all ended well.

As we got in to Northop Tony suggested a shortcut (no problem on his e-bike) that cut about a mile from the route catching up with the rest of the group near Saughton (we were now thirteen).

The route passed Buckley heading towards Higher Kinnerton where we caught the tail end of the Wirral Cycling Group as we went the opposite way towards Shordley and Rossett to the pub. There were five others already there having taken a shorter (less arduous) route, already tucking into their sandwiches and chips; Brian had suggested they couldn't serve until he arrived but more came as requested! The Griffin don't normally do food on a Wednesday but they did these specially for us and at £3 a head they were excellent (as was the beer).

We all left at roughly the same time but everyone who'd joined us took a separate route home leaving the original nine to return - via Gresford, Rossett (again), Kinnerton and over Saltney Ferry bridge where we normally have jelly-babies from Sue; however as she was in Mallorca Liz stepped up and produced a packet (thought ahead here!). Richard missed these as he'd already peeled off. From here we gradually became fewer until only Brian, Colin and me arrived at Saughall. Colin and I headed for home (I'd not been out got three weeks and it was beginning to tell), so Brian completed the course on his own.

Thanks Brian for excellent leadership (we expect no less), also Richard and Tony for help with the flat tyre and of course Liz for the jelly-babies.
